Classification of cookies used

Cookies are text files that are stored on the Data Subject's device when visiting a website, and are separated according to the party that installs them (first-party cookies, third-party cookies) and according to their purpose (technical cookies, functionality cookies, analytical cookies).

These cookies are not under the control of the Company and, therefore, for further information on how the third party uses cookies, you are advised to visit the third party's website (see TABLE OF COOKIES USED)

According to purpose

- Essential technical cookies
These cookies are strictly necessary for the proper functioning of the websites and to use and/or improve the various functions and/or services requested. Prior consent is required from the visitor for the installation of these cookies. Without these cookies, it will also be possible to use the content and services on the Company's website.

In any case, the Company does not directly store personal information and the data collected do not allow the visitor to be personally identified, as they are aggregated and anonymous.
